The President Signs the Oleomargarine Bill.

HIS REASONS FOR SO DOING

The Senate Insists upon its Amendments—A Partisan Debate in the House—The River and Harbor Bill—Etc

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The president has signed the oleomargarine bill and sent the following message to the house of representatives stating his reasons for approving it:

To the House of Representatives: I have this day approved the bill originating in the house of representatives entitled "An act defining butter, also imposing a tax upon and regulating the manufacture, sale, importation and exportation of oleomargarine." This legislation has awakened much interest among the people of the country and earnest argument has been addressed to the executive for the purpose of influencing his action thereon. Many in opposition have regarded it as dangerous and [illegible] the boundaries between the proper exercise of legislative power [illegible] state authorities. Many in favor of its enactment have represented that it promises great advantage to a large portion of our population who sorely need relief, and those on both sides of the question whose advocacy or opposition is based upon no broader foundation than local or personal interest have outnumbered all the others.

A REVENUE BILL

This is on its face and in its main features a revenue bill, and was first introduced in the house of representatives, wherein the constitution declares that all bills for raising revenue shall originate. The constitution has invested congress with a very wide legislative discretion, both as to the necessity of taxation and the selection of the objects of its burden, and if the question was presented to me as an original proposition I might doubt the present need of increased taxation. I deem it my duty in this instance to defer to the legislative branch of government, which has been so emphatically announced by the action of congress in the passage of this bill. Moreover those who desire to see removed the weight of taxation now pressing upon the people from other directions may well be justified in the hope and expectation that the selection of an additional subject of internal taxation so well able to bear it will in consistency be followed by legislation relieving our citizens from other revenue burdens rendered by the passage of this bill even more than heretofore unnecessary and needlessly oppressive.

AN OBJECTION

It has been urged as an objection to this measure that while purporting to be legislation for revenue its real purpose is to destroy by use of the taxing power an industry of our people for the protection and benefit of another. If entitled to indulge such a suspicion as a basis of official action in this case, and if entirely satisfied that the consequences indicated would ensue, I would doubtless feel constrained to interpose the executive dissent, but I do not feel called upon to interpret the motives of congress otherwise than by the apparent character of the bill which has been presented to me, and am convinced that the taxes which it creates cannot possibly destroy the open and legitimate manufacture and sale of the thing upon which it is levied. If this article has the merit which its friends claim for it, and if the people of the land with a full knowledge of its real character desire to purchase and use it, the taxes exacted by this bill will permit profit to both the manufacturer and dealer. If the existence of the commodity taxed and the profits of its manufacture and sale depend upon disposing of it to the people for something else which it imitates, the entire enterprise is a fraud and not an industry, and if it cannot endure the exhibition of its real character which will be effected by the inspection, supervision and stamping which this bill directs, the sooner it is destroyed the better in the interest of fair dealing. Such a result would not furnish the first instance in the history of legislation in which a revenue bill produced a benefit which was merely incidental to its main purpose.

A DESERVING CLASS

There is certainly no industry better entitled to the incidental advantages which may follow this legislation than our farming and dairy interest, and to none of our people should they be less begrudged than our farmers and dairymen. The present depression of their occupation, the hard, steady and often unremunerative toil which these occupations exact, and the burdens of taxation which our farmers bear entitle them to every legitimate consideration. Nor should there be opposition to the incidental effect of this legislation on the part of those who profess to be engaged honestly and fairly in the manufacture and sale of a wholesome and valuable article of food which by its provisions may be subject to taxation. As long as their business is carried on under cover and by false pretenses such men have bad companions in those who manufacture products vile and harmful to take their place without challenge with the better sort in a common crusade of deceit against the public. But if this occupation and its methods are forced into the light and all these manufactures must thus either stand upon their merits or fall, the good and bad must part company and the fittest only will survive.

Not the least important incident related to this legislation is the defense afforded to the consumer against fraudulent substitution and sale of an imitation for a genuine article of food of very general household use. Notwithstanding the immense quantities of articles described in this bill which are sold to the people for their consumption as food, and notwithstanding the claim made that its manufacture supplies a cheap substitute for butter, I venture to say that hardly a pound entered a poor man's house under its true name and its true character.

While in its relation to all articles of this description there should be no governmental regulation of what a citizen should eat, it is certainly not a cause of regret if by legislation of this character he is afforded a means by which he may better protect himself against imposition in meeting the needs and wants of his daily life.

A SUGGESTION

Having entered upon this legislation it is a manifest duty to render it as effective as possible in the accomplishment of all the good which should legitimately follow in its train. This leads to the suggestion that the article proposed to be taxed and the circumstances which subject it thereto should be clearly and with great distinctness defined in the statute. It seems to me that this object has not been completely attained by the phraseology of the second section of the bill and that a question may well arise as to the precise condition the article [illegible] to be taxed [illegible] [illegible] thirteenth sections of the bill in my opinion are in danger of being construed as an interference with the police powers of the states. Not being entirely satisfied of the unconstitutionality of their provisions, I have determined to commend them to the attention of the house with a view to an immediate amendment of the bill if it should be deemed necessary and if it is practicable at this time and late day in the session of congress. The fact that the bill does not take effect by its terms until ninety days have elapsed after its approval, thus leaving it but one month in operation before the next session of congress when, if the present time does not permit, the safety and efficiency of the measure may be abundantly protected by remedial legislative action, and a desire to see realized the beneficent results which it is expected will immediately follow the inauguration of this legislation have had their influence in determining my official action. The considerations which have been referred to will, I hope, justify this communication and the suggestions which it contains.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, Aug. 2, 1886.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Allison from the conference committee on the sundry civil appropriation bill reported that the committee had been unable to agree. The conferees had gone over every item in the bill with great care. There were certain points on which the house conferees were to ask instructions from that body and in which the senate conferees desired the judgment of the senate. The first difficulty related to appropriations for coast survey. The house provision had reduced the appropriations for coast surveys about $100,000 below the appropriations of last year and made practically a new arrangement and adjustment with reference to the official force of the survey, creating new offices, abolishing old ones and changing the field force by allowing its reduction from sixty-four to fifty-two as vacancies should occur. The house conferees insisted that a new adjustment should be made in the bill. The answer of the senate conferees was that the coast survey had been since August, 1885, practically without a scientific head, and that when the office had a responsible head with scientific knowledge the question could be carefully taken up and considered. The next items of difference were in reference to the enlargement of the new pension building, to a survey of the public lands to the Yellowstone park, to the erection of a hospital adjacent to the insane asylum for insane convicts and homicidal patients, to stenographers for the chief justice and justices of the supreme court, and to an item of $5,000 to be expended by the library committee for works of art.

THE SENATE INSISTS

In reference to the Yellowstone park item Plumb declared that the park was in the hands of a monopoly.

Vest said the statement was incorrect. He had been notified time and again that unless he withdrew his opposition to the scheme to build a railroad through the park [illegible] would be brought up. This railroad company had a lobby in Washington composed of newspaper correspondents and others, who were engaged in assailing senators and attacking their character.

After further discussion the senate insisted especially on its disagreement to the Yellowstone park item, and on motion of Allison insisted generally on its disagreements to the other items and a further conference was ordered.

The chair presented a resolution offered by Evarts on Saturday last requesting the president to open correspondence with foreign powers on the subject of silver. Evarts advocated the resolution but did not define his position upon the silver question. The resolution went over until to-morrow.

The senate then took up the house bill relating to taxation of fractional parts of a gallon of distilled spirits [illegible] making the same [illegible] effect the second Monday succeeding the month in which this act is approved, and [illegible] the act of March [illegible] relating to fruit brandy [illegible] brandy distilled from apples or peaches, [illegible] and asked a conference.

The senate then took up the bill reported from the finance committee to provide for [illegible] and [illegible] providing for the [illegible] of certain [illegible] [illegible] Adjourned.

IN SECRET SESSION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—In executive session the [illegible] U. S. Dement [illegible] general of Utah was [illegible] [illegible] had [illegible] [illegible] he had when the [illegible] voted for confirmation [illegible] but he was [illegible] that Dement was not the kind of a [illegible] government needed in the position of surveyor general of Utah and he would therefore oppose his confirmation. Nobody defended Dement and he was rejected without division.

[illegible] John Porter was confirmed without debate and by nearly the same vote as that cast for the [illegible] John Porter.

The nomination of [illegible] Potter to be Indian agent for the [illegible] Winnebago agency and [illegible] to be postmaster at Jacksonville [illegible] were rejected.

Senator Sherman tried to call up for ratification the treaty with Great Britain favorably reported from the committee on foreign relations, but the proposition was voted down by a majority vote [illegible] that [illegible] will be reached this session.

HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The speaker laid before the house a bill to increase the naval establishment with senate amendments thereto, and Hunt [illegible] an unusual occurrence in the amendments. Herbert and [illegible] of Maine entered into a [illegible] as to the position taken by the republican and democratic parties on the question of increase of the navy and charges and counter charges of hostility to the naval bill were indulged in. Then Reed of Maine took a hand in the debate and arraigned in severe terms the democratic majority for its delay in bringing important measures before the house and preventing intelligent consideration and discussion. The history of this house was a history of refusal to transact public business for the purpose of ennobling the democratic party to show on the stump figures which indicated not economy but failure to spend the income of the government to meet the necessities of the government. During the past week or two scenes had been enacted here which ought to make the legislature blush. Bills of serious importance after much consideration of six months had been [illegible] when there was no opportunity for discussion. The surplus resolution had been put through with insufficient debate and in such form that it could not receive the assent of the senate. Instead of passing the Cullom interstate commerce bill, giving a measure of relief to the country, the house had passed a different bill and thrown the matter into conference and nothing would be done whatever. The democratic majority prevented the house in such a fashion that debate could [illegible] it was [illegible] and [illegible] of honest manly legislation that there should be full and free discussion.

REAGAN'S EXPLANATION

Reagan of Texas regarded Reed's remarks as to the interstate commerce bill as extraordinary. That bill had been combated by the whole railroad powers of the country. Attorneys and lobbyists had always been there to retard the action of the house, and yet it was the first time in the history of its consideration that the bill had been passed at the first session. The gentleman (Reed) complained that the house had not passed the senate bill. Why did not the senate in the past act on the bill? The house had three times passed it. The bill was now in conference, and if the conferees [illegible] it was [illegible] the power which had heretofore prevented action would combine to prevent it. He was sure it was the desire of the house conferees that some result should be reached.

The senate amendments to the naval establishment bill were concurred in and the bill after the signatures of the speaker and president of the senate have been attached will go to the president for his approval.

Randall of Pennsylvania from the conference committee on the sundry civil appropriation bill reported disagreement. After a short debate on the senate's Yellowstone park amendment the conference report was agreed to and further conference was ordered.

On motion of Randall a joint resolution was passed extending until August [illegible] the provisions of the joint resolution providing temporarily for expenditures of the government.

The speaker proceeded to call the states for the introduction of bills.

A STUMP SPEECH IN DISGUISE

Baker of New York offered a resolution of recapitulation, self-commendation, modest laudation and hearty congratulation by the responsible majority of the house. The reading of this was demanded by Bayne of Pennsylvania and the document proved to be a "stump" paper containing a severe arraignment of the democratic majority in the house and the democratic president for sins of omission and commission. Several times Reagan of Texas interrupted the reading and objected to a stump speech being injected into the proceedings of the house under false pretenses. The speaker ruled that as the document was presented under the call of states and was in the form of a resolution it must be received. He added, dryly, that the resolutions were not an attack upon the house, but upon the democratic party, and that he thought the democratic party could stand it.

The resolution which was endorsed for reference to a steering committee, having been read, Randall said that he did not consider it either respectful or decent. He therefore moved to return the resolution to the member who offered it.

Baker asked consent to withdraw, but objection was made.

Randall's motion to return the resolution to Baker was agreed to.

Scott of Pennsylvania offered a resolution calling on the secretary of the treasury for information respecting the coinage of standard silver dollars. Referred.

Atkinson of Pennsylvania introduced a bill to [illegible] of real property by corporations. Referred.

On motion of Mason of Illinois the rules were suspended and the house by a vote of [illegible] passed with verbal amendment the senate bill increasing the pensions of soldiers who lost an arm or leg in the service. The house then adjourned.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL

WASHINGTON, August 2.—The conference committee on the river and harbor bill to-night reached a complete agreement on points in dispute in that measure and it will be reported to the house to-morrow. As agreed upon in conference the Hennepin canal clause is so amended as to authorize a survey of the line of the proposed canal by a board of government engineers, who are to report at the next meeting of congress. Meanwhile no appropriation is made for the beginning of the work of construction.

THE SUNDRY CIVIL BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The conferees on the sundry civil appropriation bill this morning agreed to report back a disagreement on that measure. Many points of difference have been adjusted, however, and the only matters that will require the action of the next conference are the amendments relating to coast surveys, public land surveys, occupancy of the pension office building, stenographer for supreme court justices, Yellowstone park and an additional building for the government insane asylum.

WASHINGTON NOTES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The president has vetoed four more pension bills.

Attorney General Garland has gone to Arkansas for several weeks vacation.

Among the clerks dismissed from the patent office Saturday was Miss Alice F. McIlhenny, granddaughter of President Thomas Jefferson.

CONFIRMATIONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The senate to-day in executive session confirmed the nomination of [illegible] United States District Attorney, White of Washington territory. The marshal of the territory was also confirmed. The nomination of J. M. Adams, register of the land office at Spokane Falls will not be taken up this session.

TO AUTHORIZE REPRISALS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Representative Collins of Massachusetts to-day introduced in the house a bill authorizing the president to deny all commercial rights, including the right to transport vehicles [illegible] in the United States, to such foreign countries as may deny commercial privileges to citizens of the United States.

THE CHICAGO TRIAL.

A Bold Front Presented by the Defense.

MAYOR HARRISON ON THE STAND.

An Attempt to Show that the Deadly Bomb was Thrown Toward the Speaker's Stand

Eastern Notes

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Mayor Harrison was the first witness [illegible] in the anarchist trial this morning. The mayor was present at the Haymarket meeting. He went there because his attention had been called to the "revenge" circular calling the meeting. He had instructed the police to [illegible] crowd [illegible] anything occurred which would be [illegible] to the [illegible] of the crowd [illegible] He heard part [illegible] and Parsons' speeches. He left the meeting while Parsons was speaking. There were [illegible] the crowd did not exceed [illegible] He then went to the Desplaines street station and told Bonfield he thought there would be no trouble.

On cross-examination the mayor said Bonfield had told him that the meeting before had adjourned with an attempt to tear down the Milwaukee & St. Paul [illegible] and that the Haymarket meeting [illegible] to distract attention from other quarters. When [illegible] station [illegible] Bonfield discretionary powers as to the dispersal of the meeting, or to quell any other disturbance.

TESTIMONY OF AN EYE WITNESS

Martin Simonson, traveling salesman, was at the Haymarket meeting. During the afternoon he was given a circular by some one on West Lake street. The circular was submitted by the prosecution. It was a copy of the "revenge" circular except that it was headed "Attention Workingmen" instead of "Revenge," and omitted the line "workingmen come armed" and appear in full force which appears in the "Revenge" circulars. Witness was present at the Haymarket during the entire meeting until after the explosion of the bomb. In his [illegible] he [illegible] to [illegible] During [illegible] speech the crowd began to leave. While Fielden was speaking some one said "let us adjourn." Fielden told them he was nearly through. At about this time witness saw [illegible] He heard some one call on the crowd to [illegible] and some one in the wagon said "this is a peaceable meeting." The bomb exploded within a second or two afterward. Witness did not hear anyone [illegible] the police "bloodhounds" or any exclamation of that kind. He heard no pistol shots prior to the explosion of the bomb. This witness declared that the bomb was thrown from the sidewalk, and not from the alley, as testified to by witnesses for the prosecution. His account of the meeting otherwise than this point did not materially differ from witnesses for the state.

A NEW THEORY

Cross-examination of Simonson occupied half an hour at the beginning of the afternoon session but without apparent result. At this point the defense commenced the introduction of a long line of witnesses to corroborate an entirely new theory of the defense in regard to the throwing of the bomb. It was sought to be shown that the deadly missile came not from near the speaker's stand and flying southwesterly into the ranks of the police, but arose perhaps thirty feet south of the wagon and was hurled through the air in a northwesterly direction and therefore in a manner toward the speakers' wagon. Another novel feature was the offering of evidence to prove that Spies went not unto the meeting on the Black road out of which grew the riot at McCormick's and which was made the occasion for the Haymarket gathering. Spies the defense claimed by their witness went there on invitation of a delegate of the lumber [illegible] to the Central labor union of which the [illegible] organization is a part.

[illegible], proprietor of a building on Clinton [illegible] who is also proprietor of a small tailor shop at that place and has lived seventeen years in Chicago, was the next witness. After [illegible] Ferguson testified that the speeches of Spies and Parsons in Haymarket were not at all incendiary. After listening to Fielden for a few minutes witness heard some interruption with a proposition to adjourn. The crowd was beginning to dwindle. Witness himself left and had reached the southwest corner of Randolph and Desplaines streets, when he saw police rush out of a side street and wheel down the street. They were coming very rapidly and one of the officers repeatedly ordered the police to hurry. Suddenly there was a report and he saw the flashes of pistols.

"Where were the flashes?" interjected one of the attorneys for the defense.

"They were all in the middle of the street south of Randolph," replied witness.

"Did you see any pistol on the other side of the street where the crowd stood?"

"No sir. When witness left the meeting just previous to the coming of the police the crowd was very orderly. It was as orderly an outdoor meeting as he ever saw in his life."

"Are you a socialist?" asked Zeisler who was conducting the examination for the defense.

"No sir," answered witness.

"An anarchist?"

"No sir."

"A communist?"

Again the reply was in the negative and witness was turned over to the state's attorney whose cross-questioning was brief and on the whole unproductive.

A LABOR CHAIRMAN

The next witness, Ludwig Zeller, secretary of the Central labor union on the night of May 4th, was at 4 West Lake street until a quarter past ten. He went to Haymarket and took up a position a few steps south of a lamp facing the wagon. He heard no reply from any one on the wagon to Capt. Ward's command to disperse. He saw a light arise from a point ten or twelve feet south and fall in the midst of the police. The course of the bomb was in a northwesterly direction. After the explosion of the bomb witness ran south. He saw no citizens shooting but many running.

Witness was here asked by the defense in regard to the meeting of the Central labor union May 2d. Zeller said he was there representing Cigar Makers' union 17. A delegate from the Lumber Shovers' union made a request that the Central labor union send a good speaker to a meeting that was to be held on the Black road. Fielden and Spies were named as especially desirable.

On cross-examination witness said he belonged to a South Side group of Internationalists, [illegible] ceased to be a member last December. He denied being an anarchist but admitted that his place of residence, 4 West Lake street, had been a gathering place of anarchists.

OTHER WITNESSES

Carl Richter, an intellectual looking German, who is at present a worker in the fancy leather trade but has been an actor in a German company, was at the Haymarket meeting. He stood at first in the alley north of Randolph leaning against a lamp post. Richter's testimony corresponded with that of the two preceding witnesses, but contained little in addition. He said he was not a socialist, anarchist or communist and never had belonged to any labor organization. He is married, has lived in the United States fourteen years and is a registered voter. In cross-examination it was ascertained that witness did not live with his wife and a large portion of his time in this country had been spent as a saloon keeper and bartender.

A carpenter named Frederick Liebel, another spectator at the Haymarket meeting, testified that he arrived there about 9 o'clock. He stood near a lamp post in the alley on the east side of Randolph street. The evidence given by Liebel was substantially the same as what had just been sworn to by Ferguson, Zeller and Richter. Many questions were put to Liebel and to all the other witnesses who testified during the afternoon that they had stood near the mouth of the alley as to whether Spies or Schwab was seen by them to enter there. The witness for the defense one and all were positive so far as they knew that neither of the two defendants went near the alley that night. The inference evidently intended by the defense was that the previous testimony for the state that Spies and Schwab handed the fatal bomb to a companion in the alley was untrue. This point was dwelt on at such great length with the last witness that there remained no time for cross-examination by the state and he will be placed again on the stand the first thing in the morning.

TILDEN A PARALYTIC INVALID

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—A writer in the Sun in giving an account of the daily life of Samuel J. Tilden at Greystone, describes him as a paralytic and hopeless invalid, though still retaining his mental powers and ability to direct and govern others. The writer says that owing to an attack of paralysis Tilden is unable to close his lips, and his mouth is constantly open. His right hand from the same cause is entirely helpless, trembling all the time. He has not even power to raise it to his mouth. His left hand is but slightly affected by the stroke of paralysis and he has partial use of it. In eating he uses his left hand to hold up his lower jaw. His faithful companion Miss Anna Gould places in his mouth every particle of food he eats. She generally puts it to his mouth with a spoon and he is enabled to swallow by raising his lower jaw with his left hand and putting his head back.

FIRE IN STOCK YARDS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 2.—Fire broke out shortly before noon to-day in the National stock yards at East St. Louis and spread with such rapidity that the local fire department was unable to master the flames and an appeal for aid was sent to this city, to which three engines responded. The indications now at 1 P. M. are that the sheds and barns will be wholly destroyed. The yards are situated some distance from East St. Louis and in a place where the engines can only do inefficient work.

The fire started in a large hay barn which contained 100 tons of hay valued at $2,000. It was wholly destroyed. Thirty sheds valued $5,000 each were also completely destroyed and the fire at 6 o'clock is still burning fiercely. The loss so far amounts to about $[illegible] and [illegible] Insurance. THE ELECTIONS

PARIS, Aug. 2.—Returns from 1011 of the districts in which elections were held yesterday for conseillers generaux have been received. Fourteen hundred and thirteen of these officials are elected triennially. In 636 of the districts heard from republicans have been elected, and in 300 conservatives have been successful. In 100 districts a second ballot will be required. The republicans [illegible] calculate that the republican majority will be seriously diminished.

GREAT INTEREST TAKEN

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The Herald's Paris special on the French election which began yesterday says: Great hopes and fears have been aroused by the event in the rival monarchist and republican camps. The elections have extreme importance, as the councillors besides being local magnates have a voice in the election for the French senate. The voting is watched with keen anxiety. The royalists are eager to hail the slightest success as proof of a growing movement in favor of a monarchy. The republicans on the other hand are equally eager to interpret even a trifling gain as a symptom of stability of the existing institutions. The monarchist victories of last October have made them [illegible] They have taken a hint from the anti-Gladstonians. All groups, both radical and moderate, have joined hands in the fight against the common foe.

Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague, being interviewed at Washington yesterday, said: "I know that Boulanger, now the famous French minister of war, is a devoted friend and sympathizer with the Orleans family, and I expect to see the day when France shall be ruled by an Orleans king. There will be no revolution of blood, but a growth from natural causes. The French republic is a misnomer. There is no freedom nor manhood—only restraint and espionage. The masses of the people have no real wish to govern themselves. They love the aristocracy of the court, and it will take many, many years to make them sovereigns such as are the American people.

The Oregon Delegation Having a Good Time.

THE EXHIBIT AN ATTRACTION.

Reception to the Commander in Chief—California Republicans Make a Caucus Nomination for Senator—Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—One of the most frequented headquarters of G. A. R. visiting delegations is that of the Oregon department. Visitors throng the large store which it occupies and which also contains a collection of Oregon exhibits. Streamers of bunting are constantly coming and going, immense flags and [illegible] of Oregon scenery decorate the walls and evergreen festoons hang from the ceiling. The windows too are trimmed with bunting of the national colors. The rear portion of the store is partitioned off for sleeping quarters for the Drum corps which accompanies the Oregon delegation. The corps is composed of sons of members of the G. A. R. [illegible] attracts much attention both by their appearance and proficiency. The Oregon delegation is justly extremely proud of its fine exhibit and speaks of them in the same way as it does of other valuable and admirable products of Oregon.

The whole drum corps in charge of one of the members of the Oregon department paid a visit to Golden Gate park yesterday and had a thoroughly enjoyable time. To-day under similar protection they were taken to Woodward's gardens and spent the greater portion of the day there.

OREGON'S EXHIBIT

Although Oregon is a neighbor it is astonishing how great is the surprise manifested by residents of California at the productions and resources of Oregon. Eastern visitors also take great interest in Oregon's exhibits, particularly the preserved fruits. It has been the general supposition that California only could make a creditable showing in this line, but the luscious fruits preserved and exhibited in glass jars make the mouths of many a visitor water and rapidly change their ideas as to Oregon's possibilities in horticulture. Her grains are shown to great advantage in glass jars and also in the stalk. The exhibit of grasses are all tastefully arranged on a centre table stand with niches and shelves. This stand itself is part of the display, and is built of different woods grown in Oregon. It is fine Oregon workmanship, much of it being inlaid in mosaic style.

The minerals which are contained in a large glass case, cause astonishment by their variety and value.

The variety, beauty and value of Oregon's woods come in for a share of attention and comment. They are attractively laid out on a rack in the form of polished slabs about two feet long and the width of the trees' diameter.

HAVING A GOOD TIME.

The Utah delegation are also quartered with the Oregonians by invitation of the Oregon department. Every one of the Oregon delegation is enjoying himself to the utmost, and though the delegation numbers over 300 not over ten of them can ever be found at their quarters at one time, as they are busily engaged all day in making fraternal visits. Gen. Lamb is in constant demand and can barely find time to eat his meals and get a full night's rest. His work is done with his usual energy and thoroughness, and if the people's [illegible] of Oregon are not improved it will not be for want of effort on his part and that of his fellow [illegible]. The greatest attention is paid to every visitor, not only to members of the G. A. R., but to civilians, and everything is thoroughly explained to them by some one of the Oregon delegation. Already hundreds have expressed their determination to return East by way of Portland.

RECEPTION TO THE COMMANDER IN CHIEF

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Over 5000 people crowded at Mechanics' pavilion this evening to attend the reception to Commander in Chief Burdett by the second brigade National Guard of California, under command of Gen. W. H. Dimond. After a review of the militia a grand ball [illegible] officers and delegates of the G. A. R., the army of the Potomac and the Woman's Relief corps was given at Metropolitan temple. A reception by Mayor Bartlett was tendered the society of the army of the Potomac. An address of welcome was delivered by the mayor. A poem composed for the occasion by Fred Emerson Brooks was recited by the composer and the oration was delivered by Col. Stuart M. Taylor. These were interspersed with music by the band. Over 3000 people who completely filled the building were present.

THOUSANDS OF ARRIVALS

There were more arrivals to-day of delegates to the G. A. R. encampment and their accompanying friends than on any day since they began to come. The large delegation already here from Kansas was to-day augmented by 200 more including the famous Modoc singing club. Veteran zouaves from New Jersey also arrived. A body of men from Connecticut wearing a wooden nut [illegible] attached to the G. A. R. badge, numbering 100, were among the arrivals. There were also delegations from Michigan, Vermont, New Hampshire, Missouri, Nebraska, Maine, Rhode Island, Minnesota, Dakota, Tennessee, Georgia, Illinois and Iowa, the department of the army of the Potomac, Ohio, New York, Wisconsin, Los Angeles, San Diego, Oroville and other California points. Arrivals numbered thousands. Topeka and Nashville are already being discussed as the place for having next year's encampment and delegations from the places mentioned are making a strong canvass for the honor.

The society of the Army of the Potomac to-day elected Gen. Martin T. McMahon of New York, president, and selected Saratoga as its next place of meeting.

AN INSANE PASSENGER.

VICTORIA, Aug. 2.—A duty is imposed on foreign silver coin brought into Canada. Yesterday a passenger from the Sound on the Queen of the Pacific, bound for San Francisco, was observed going aboard the steamer with a large bag in his hand, which on examination proved to contain Peruvian dollars. He was overhauled by a custom officer who seized the bag and became violently insane. Although on representations his property was returned he continued to act in a strange and noisy manner and at last flung the bag at the feet of a lady passenger and leaped into the sea. One of the sailors leaped after and supported him till a rope was fastened around his waist, when he was drawn aboard. When the steamer sailed the unfortunate man was locked in a stateroom under guard to prevent his destroying himself.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY

A FINE RESIDENCE DESTROYED BY LIGHTNING

SPOKANE FALLS, Aug. 2.—A fearful thunder storm swept over this place this evening which lasted nearly an hour. Rain fell in torrents and the sky was illuminated with lightning. The elegant residence of G. P. Ide was struck by lightning, and the inmates, cousins of Mr. Ide Jr., and an old lady 80 years of age, were stunned by the shock. The house took fire, which in a few minutes was beyond control, and was a total loss. The loss of the burned building and furniture will probably amount to about $6000, on which there was a small insurance. Besides this there were a number of valuable papers, such as notes and other securities, which will increase the total loss to over $8000. Mr. Ide is absent at San Francisco, attending the G. A. R. encampment.

PORTLAND, TUESDAY, AUGUST 3, 1886

THE CALIFORNIA SYSTEM OF FRUIT PRODUCTION

Many of the questions asked by those who look to fruit production as one of the main resources of Oregon in the future are answered by conditions in the fruit region of California. Experiment there has solved our problems for us in advance. It is found in Southern California that orchards properly cultivated will thrive without irrigation on soils which, unwatered, will yield nothing else. But in such localities each tree and the ground from which it draws its support is given the most careful attention. No waste of strength is permitted. Barren or useless branches are lopped off, the stems of trees are kept free from parasites, and the soil about their bases is kept clear of weeds and made mellow and spongy by frequent plowing. In all these [illegible] orchards are profitable, each tree is tended as tenderly as if it were a [illegible]. The result is seen in beautiful and [illegible] fruits—quality, size and flavor all being [illegible] directly by careful husbandry. It is [illegible] that the best results are obtained only by [illegible] attention. When carried on [illegible] as an incidental feature of a general farming business, fruit growing does not pay. [illegible] orchards under the latter system are never well cared for and their product is not able to compete successfully in the market with the product of the orchards which form the [illegible] property and engross the whole attention of their owners.

A few years ago it was feared by men that no market could be found for the product of the many orchards and vineyards then being set out. But experience demonstrates that the greater the product the surer the market and the better the prices. As the annual production increases the market grows steadier, precisely as in the case of wheat. All the East now buys fruit from California, and if the product were twenty times greater it would be taken eagerly. Over-production is a thing that can never happen under a system, recently perfected, which pools all the fruit of the state and distributes it through an agent stationed at Omaha, to all parts of the country.

In the earlier years of the fruit business in California much embarrassment grew out of the difficulty in securing fruit of particular varieties in sufficient quantity. Orchards were for the most part small and made up of many kinds of trees. It was easy to deliver a great quantity of assorted fruit, but not so a great quantity of any particular kind. The trouble was precisely that encountered by those who have attempted to ship fruits from Oregon. Experience has taught the California orchardists a better system. They now plant particular kinds of fruits in five, ten and twenty acre patches and are thus enabled to market their product in wholesale quantities.

The fruits of Oregon, excepting peaches and certain citric fruits, are superior in all respects to those of California. We have finer apples, finer pears, finer plums and prunes and incomparably finer cherries. All our small fruits are better in size and flavor. We are not annoyed by pests, and our fruit, grown in a temperate air, is firmer and will stand long transportation. But if fruit production is ever to be a great business with us it must be carried on in a systematic way, and the methods of the country must be reformed. Something like the system practiced in California must take the place of present methods.

COMMISSIONER SPARKS

Land Commissioner Sparks is an honest man, but he is a very small man. His idea seems to be that every applicant for government land is a robber, and that all the land taken up under the various land laws during recent years has been gotten dishonestly. In his eagerness to review the acts of his predecessors, he is neglecting the current business of his office and making no end of trouble for the people who are coming to this country in great numbers to settle upon the government land. His ruling in the matter of the disputed railroad lands in Western Washington is in keeping with the general stupidity of his administration. He ruled that the land granted and turned over to the Northern Pacific, and in many instances sold by them and resold by the purchasers, were never earned, and without waiting for the dispute occasioned by this ruling to be settled, ordered the register at Vancouver to receive entries on such lands in Wahkiakum county. In some instances parties have been allowed to prove and pay up and have received final certificates. This has been done in cases where the land is in second and third hands from purchase from the railroad company. Sparks now sees his mistake, evidently, as he has within the past few days directed the register at Vancouver "not to receive any more entries for lands that have been rebated by the Northern Pacific railroad company to what is known as the [illegible] lands between that company and the Oregon Central railroad company." But this order comes too late to save trouble, and much annoying litigation is certain to grow out of the cases described above.

Quite recently Sparks received a severe rebuke from the secretary of the interior in the matter of cancelling land entries. He has been cancelling [illegible]

THE NE[illegible]

In the n[illegible] Kilpatrick, Glover, Steedman, Rousseau, Gordon Granger, Palmer, [illegible] Banks, Benham, Upton, Stannard, Hooker, Benton, Jeff C Davis, [illegible] Garfield, Hartsuff, Torbert, Herron, Washburne, [illegible] Opdyke, [illegible] Sherman and [illegible] have all died since the war. In case of a war with either foreign or domestic, we should find but few of our generals that were trained in the great school of the rebellion fit for active service. Sheridan, Schofield, Terry, Howard, [illegible] Miles, Ruger, Parke, Stanley, McCook, Ayres, Hazen, Wheaton, Merritt, Hadley, [illegible] more, Crawford are about all the active list of the regular army could furnish [illegible]. General Sherman should be [illegible] for his vigor [illegible] years his [illegible] Sturgis, [illegible] McIntosh, Pope, Ricketts, [illegible] Wright, Newton, Willcox, [illegible] Hatch, Howe, Emory, [illegible] Gilbert, Getty, Augur, [illegible] are all either on the retired list or will be within two years. [illegible] In civil life Franklin, [illegible] Buell, [illegible] Rosecrans, Couch, Pleasonton, Slocum, [illegible] McClernand, Palmer, Gordon, [illegible] Smith, are all [illegible] years of age and [illegible] Slocum, Cox, Barlow, Chamberlain, Logan, Averill, Wilson and Ames are about all the generals of the civil war that civil life could give us, and Logan is [illegible] purely political general. Fremont, Schurz, Banks, Sigel, Butler and Schenck survive at an age that forbids military service, even if they had any talent for war. The South is still worse off, for since the great surrender she has lost Lee, Bragg, Ewell, Pemberton, Pendleton, Hebert, Pickett, Hood, McLaws, Cheatham, Hardee, Toombs, Price, Kirby Smith, Breckinridge, Bowen, Magruder, Anderson, G W Smith, Lovell, Buford, Hindman, Marshall, Ripley, Forrest and Dick Taylor. Of the survivors Joe Johnston is 7[illegible], Beauregard 68, Early 70, Longstreet 6[illegible], D H Hill 6[illegible], Ransom 60, Colquitt 62, Scales 59, Maxey [illegible], Loring 71, Heth 60, Buckner 62, Hampton [illegible], Lawton 6[illegible], Mahone 59, Gordon, Field, Kershaw, Fitz Hugh Lee and Wilcox are about all that could take the field, and they are all upwards of 60 years of age.

It is clear, therefore, that in event of another war very few generals young enough for the best service are left of those trained in that great school of the soldier, the war for the Union. To illustrate how few men, who were 50 when the war broke out, achieved distinction we have plenty of examples. When the war broke out in 1861 Grant was 39, Sherman 41, Sheridan not 30, Hancock [illegible], Meade 45, Schofield 30, Thomas 45, Buell 43, Rosecrans 42, Reynolds 41, Kearney 4[illegible], Stevens 44, McPherson 33, McClellan 35, Hooker [illegible], Burnside 37, Pope 38, McDowell 4[illegible], Slocum 34, Howard 31, Terry 34, Crook 32, Gibbon 34, Logan 3[illegible], Halleck 45, Stoneman 39, Sykes 42, McDowell 43, McCook 30, Ord 43, Doubleday 4[illegible], Gilmore 36, Wilcox [illegible], Parke 33, Weitzel 26, Custer 21, Wright 4[illegible], Palmer 2[illegible], John Buford 35, Curtis [illegible], [illegible] Foster 3[illegible], Franklin 38, Sedgwick 44, Reno 38, Ricketts 12, Richardson 40, Sickles 3[illegible], Ransom [illegible], Stanley 33, Grover 32, Hays 3[illegible], Russell 40, Ingalls 41, Lyon 42, Porter [illegible], Pleasanton 37, Newton 40. On the Confederate side, Lee in 1861 was 5[illegible], Joe Johnston was 5[illegible], Bragg was 4[illegible], and they are the only men on their side above 45 when the war began that rose to even respectable military fame. Sidney Johnston was killed too early to tell what he could have done. Jackson was 35, Hill [illegible], Ewell 41, Early 43, Anderson 39, Armistead 4[illegible], Beauregard 43, Hardee 42, Heth 35, McLaws 40, Longstreet 38, Stuart under 30, Hood 30, Mahone 34. The only men past 45 on our side that were distinguished in the field were Gen Humphreys, who was 49 in 1861, Heintzleman, who was 5[illegible], and Emory, who was 4[illegible]. Casey at 54, Sumner at 6[illegible], Hunter and McCall at 59, did some gallant work, but retired early from active service. Mansfield was killed at 58. The record of our great war on both sides proves conclusively that the best work of a soldier is done before 50. All the great soldiers of the world did their best work before they were 50 years of age, with the exception, we believe, of Marlborough. Caesar, Hannibal, Frederick, Cromwell, Conde, Gustavus Adolphus, Maurice of Nassau, Napoleon, Wellington are warriors whose work was done before 50. Napoleon was but 45 when he fought Waterloo; he had not lost his strategic genius, but his executive genius as a tactician had become greatly impaired; he was slow, irresolute and deficient in destructive energy in action. The man of Austerlitz would have utterly destroyed Blucher at Ligny or Wellington at Quatre Bras. In the next war, however, we shall be greatly helped by some things that will not die with our trained soldiers of the civil war. We have military maps of nearly every part of the country fought over, and we have the recorded experience of our great war, so that should a war take place to-morrow we should not make as many blunders as before. We should know how to care for our sick and wounded in field and general hospitals, we should know the value of the spade, we should know better how to arm, dress, and fight our soldiers, and we should know better than to keep an old man, like Scott, at the head of our army so that he could paralyze the man that wielded the sword with a telegram from the war office. The record of the war will help us some, even if we do not have any veterans left for active service.

Grant was betrayed by Ward, which was not remarkable, as some of the ablest men in Wall street, men like Henry Clews, who began as a boy in a broker's office, have been imposed upon and duped by characterless adventurers; and if Babcock corruptly betrayed Grant's confidence, so did the secretary of George Washington accept a bribe from the French minister. The fact did not tarnish Washington's fame before the country, and Grant, who was more than once betrayed through his generous confidence in his friends, will not be held responsible by history for those who abused him any more than Washington. Neither of these men ever betrayed their own great trust, and they will always be admired and honored by the people with whom their good name and fame is forever secure.

The journalist who pigeon holes for use all the gossip he can gather by eavesdropping detectives and twists it into a rod to torture his fellows into the payment of hush money, or compel unwilling support for a journal whose diabolism they dread, or wreak vengeance for real or fancied wrongs and jealousies—such a journalist, if he has business enterprise and financial prudence, will sometimes achieve a large degree of evil influence. It is only simple women and very young boys who believe that only the virtuous win riches and only the depraved achieve indigence and misfortune, and the satanic editor, like other satanic men and things, sometimes grows fat through the garbage upon which he feeds.

THE OREGONIAN of Thursday next will contain a review of the grain business for the season of 1885-1886, covering twelve months, and in all respects complete and accurate. Besides a review of transactions, prices, etc., month by month, there will be a series of tables showing the totals of production, export, etc. As an exposition of our chief productive industry the issue will be especially interesting both at home and abroad. Orders for extra copies should be sent in to the publication office.

Oregon has 1[illegible] post offices. During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1886, 1[illegible] of these were filled by appointment—in most cases the former incumbents being removed. This is the record for twelve of the seventeen months of the present administration. The whole is not before us. In some of the counties here has been a [illegible], and very probably within another year the change will be complete [illegible].

Since the [illegible] prohibition amendment to the national constitution, proposed by the senate committee on education and labor, is not to go into effect till the year 1900, everybody whom [illegible] will have had time enough to swear off in.

The recent storm in the Red River valley, Minnesota and Dakota destroyed 1,500,000 bushels of wheat. The yield of the valley this year will not exceed 10,000,000 bushels, against a total of 18,000,000 in former years.

DEGRADED JOURNALISM

Pendleton East Oregonian.

The Portland OREGONIAN advertised in one of its Sunday editions amusements that evening to be found at the Olympic beer gardens. The Portland News next morning substantially accused THE OREGONIAN company of owning and [illegible] the beer gardens. Next morning THE OREGONIAN positively denied owning or having any interest whatever in the aforesaid beer gardens. Next morning the News, entirely ignoring the denial, published several paragraphs which plainly implied that THE OREGONIAN instead of denying the charge had admitted it. That is, the News wilfully and meanly misrepresented what THE OREGONIAN had said, and in fact made it appear that it had said the exact opposite of what it did say. This is unimportant except as an illustration of the methods of dispute used by some papers. The Pendleton Tribune has never invented any other style of argument, and the News seems to know no other when it comes to its attempts, which are constant, to make a point against THE OREGONIAN. What a fine style of controversy this is: accuse an opponent of something, and when he denies it in unmistakable terms and it is known the accusation cannot be successfully maintained, then intimate, and indicate, and insinuate, and indeed verily allege that the said opponent had confessed [illegible] of denying. And that in the face of the fact that nine tenths of the people who read the lying accusation and the subsequent [illegible] read both sides and so know that the paltry liars are paltry liars. How many souls of the sort who resort to such petty, contemptible falsehoods could inhabit an excavated mustard seed? Probably many besides those of the Portland News and the Pendleton Tribune.

Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures the most severe cases.

PRESIDENT AND PARTY.

Mr Cleveland's Mistakes as Seen from a Democratic Standpoint.

Not a Leader of his Party—Congressmen [illegible] one Without the Aid of the Executive

The New York Herald double leads the following which it says was written by a member of congress:

Your Washington correspondent some days ago made a list of measures recommended by the president and either rejected or not acted on by the house of representatives, and therefrom drew the deduction that there existed among the democrats of the house a cabal or conspiracy having the intention to mortify the president and bring him into contempt. I think this conclusion so wide of the facts that I ask you for space to state what I believe to be the real reason for the difference which, as your correspondent showed, had arisen between the democratic executive and the democratic party in congress. That such difference should exist is, I admit, a matter for grave alarm in all who desire the party to prosper.

As a member of the house I am willing to grant that we might have had abler leaders and that our leaders might have had an abler body of followers. But admitting all that, the fault of the undoubted alienation of the president from his party as it exists in Congress lies not with democratic congressmen or democratic leaders in congress, but with Mr Cleveland himself. With your permission I will try to make it plain to you.

THE PRESIDENT'S FAULT.

Under our political system the president is not only the chief executive officer of the whole country, but in another aspect he is the head of the party which has elected him. He is to execute the laws for all, but when we come to politics he is of course to further those of the party which elected him to office. Whatever influence he has—and the president has more power than any ruler in the civilized world except the czar of Russia—he is bound to use that influence to advance the policies of his party. I don't think that can be disputed. Now how are party policies or public policies advanced under representative government? How are they made to prosper? Plainly, I think, by rallying the party in congress to them by telling it to unite upon them, and that is the office of leadership.

A party in congress has inevitably many men of many minds; even its leaders do not naturally agree together, because they are moved by personal ambitions, by the pressure of local interests, possibly by animosities. But the head of the party in the presidency is like a powerful moderator to such an assembly as his party in congress.

WHERE HE SHOULD INTERFERE.

It is his function not to plant himself on an ideally perfect policy and let the party go to pieces, but to bring it to an agreement upon a course which, if not ideally the best, shall yet be in the line of its duty to the country and on which they can act together. In doing this he and all others have probably to concede something, but after all something gets done also. A president who understands and is not above this important part of his functions produces such general agreement and harmony by gaining the intimacy, the confidence, the friendship of the leading members of the party by consulting with them freely and frequently, comparing his views with theirs and theirs with each other, and thus ascertaining what can be done—what the party as it is constituted in congress can be brought to agree upon, and then loyally standing by them for that. Such free interchange of ideas between the president and the members of his party is absolutely necessary if they are all to co-operate for a common purpose. In the course of that a president necessarily learns a great deal. He gets informed of the peculiar interests, views and prejudices of all parts of our vast country. He learns what is possible and what impossible. His own views and beliefs are moulded, and as they are impressed upon the members he consults they in turn also [illegible]. It is harmonious agreement upon [illegible] policy but that is vital to the country and strengthens the party.

A SCHOOLMASTER'S WAYS.

Now the great fault of Mr Cleveland is that he has never pursued this course. On the contrary, he has from the beginning till now held himself aloof from the members of his party in congress. [illegible] his general treatment of them has been offensive to their just pride. [illegible] he came here to Washington, the ideas and the manners acquired in dealing with the common council of Buffalo and the legislature at Albany. His attitude towards congress has been [illegible] and contemptuous [illegible] question [illegible] attitude [illegible] not that of a companion [illegible] believing in the honesty [illegible] democrats, believing, if you choose, [illegible] of them are fools or wrong, yet desirous for their country's and the party's sake to bring them and himself together upon a course beneficial to [illegible], and ready to be instructed, to learn as well as to give orders and to instruct. Mr Cleveland has from the first isolated himself from the leading minds of his party in congress. He has not consulted with them or made any efforts toward securing a harmony of views and action among them or between them and himself. In that important respect he reminds me and others as well very much of Andrew Johnson.

THE ISOLATED CABINET.

Like master like man is an old and true saying, and the cabinet live in equal isolation from the party with Mr Cleveland. I do not believe the whole of them have influenced ten votes in the house on any question. In fact if they had been able to, Mr Morrison would have got his bill considered in the house and would probably have presented a bill that the whole party would have supported. Like Mr Cleveland his cabinet have no intimate friendly confidential relations to leading men of their party in congress. In fact they have no relations at all to them of mutual [illegible] interchange of ideas and advice about public measures. If any of them feel an interest in the success and the future of the party they have managed to conceal it. It results that the administration exists as if it were within a high wall or in another part of the globe—so far as it affects the party [illegible] and the party action. If it were a republican administration it could not show less interest in the welfare of the party than it has and does.

CONGRESS NOT TO BLAME.

The [illegible] your correspondent justly criticises but unjustly blames upon congress. Mr Cleveland's narrow and ill informed mind has never tried to grasp the opinions of the whole country. He regards New York as the country, and that is a very bad mistake. Besides this he thinks men who do not agree with him are either insincere or lacking in sense, and that is another bad mistake. His attitude toward the party has weakened it in the country. His chosen isolation has of course led him into mistakes. If he had the habit of hearing what members of his party say and drawing out what they think he would not be keeping a crossroads lawyer from Arkansas as the attorney general's office, and he would know that some other changes besides that one would strengthen the party.

DEMOCRATIC HARMONY.

It is perfectly true that the democrats in congress [illegible] agree in many things. But they wished [illegible] harmony when congress met. [illegible] have united them [illegible] bill—to illustrate what I mean by an instance. It was entirely in his power by only proper and friendly management to get [illegible] of tariff reform. He could not [illegible] the party to unite on the immediate and unconditional stoppage of the silver coinage. [illegible] the whole party would have supported [illegible]. The democratic congress [illegible] their [illegible] are ready as sincere and honest [illegible] himself from them.

[illegible]

This [illegible] the president [illegible] of his great popularity [illegible] party must not [illegible] his leadership. [illegible] It is natural that he should [illegible] party whose [illegible] he thinks himself [illegible] desires [illegible] to strengthen his party—to [illegible] confidence and pride in his leadership which can come only from success. We [illegible] hope [illegible] We go there to [illegible] of what the democratic administration has accomplished, but [illegible] as well as we may be able to its failures and mistakes.

PROHIBIT THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

PORTLAND, August 1.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I cannot resist the temptation to make a few comments on the article "Anti-Saloon Movement" in to-day's OREGONIAN. Especially am I prompted to do this from the fact that on my way home from church (where I had listened to a beautiful and impressive sermon of "Manhood and Morals" by Rev Dr Clapp) I passed by two saloons on the same block, one with the side and the other with the front door standing wide open, with streams of men pouring in and out. And this too in the face of a Sunday law.

It fills my soul with great joy to see that the great republican party has at last been forced to call an anti saloon conference. However this may terminate, whatever course or plans they may decide upon, one thing is certain, the movement will add strength and power to prohibition. That in time it must come to this great issue all great thinkers and far seers know; that at no distant day this nation will be divided upon this, the greatest question which our people have ever been called upon to decide. For soon the temperance forces will drive this balance of power (the whisky element) from the center of "the teeter board" into one or the other of the great political parties. Then we will meet them on the open field of battle. Then we will teach them what morality and purity mean. Then we will teach them that the thousands of wretched wives and helpless children whom they have robbed have personal rights as well as distillers, brewers and saloon keepers. They will also learn that this nation can exist without a little wine for the stomach's sake.

We are told in this article, as we are told every day, that a prohibition law has existed in several states, and in one for thirty years, and still prohibition is not a success. But I ask how could we expect it to be a success when in all those localities there is either a republican or democratic party holding the reins of state—and are not both controlled by the saloon power? One party rides into the White house on a barrel of whisky while the other reaches that distinguished place of honor astride a keg of beer. Is it strange England should have called us a nation of drunkards? And this accursed beverage continues to flow without ceasing, throughout each administration, unless the [illegible] of the president [illegible] is blessed with a wife who possesses sufficient [illegible] of character and Christian fortitude to say "Wine shall not grace the table of the White house while I preside as its mistress." Thank God that our executive mansion has been blessed by such an one. [illegible] Mrs Hayes will continue to shine through the annals of history as a bright and luminous star to bless and encourage womankind.

A prohibition party is what we want to secure a state constitutional prohibitory amendment, and the breaking up of the republican party in the North and the prohibition element of the democratic South will furnish us a powerful leverage in this direction.

A prominent republican politician said to me during our recent campaign, "Why are you prohibitionists working against your own interests? We have given you everything you have asked for, and now you are repaying us by trying to elect the worst enemy, the whisky party." I replied, "Oh yes, we know how kind you have been to us, just such laws as we want, but we also know that you never have nor ever did intend to enforce the laws you have enacted." And I said further, "you will find that we are in earnest and that we are not at all particular which of the whisky parties succeed. We are not fighting party but whisky!" Never has the sky looked so cloudless to this young but vigorous [illegible] party as to-day. Two years hence the prohibition party [illegible] new [illegible] and increased members, and she will be doubling [illegible] that she has not forgotten [illegible] that it showed the greatest increase [illegible] of prohibition for one and a half years of any state in the Union.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

FIRST TEA SHIP TO PORTLAND —The British bark Carrier Dove arrived in yesterday from Yokohama in a passage of fifty five days She left up at 4 30 P M in tow of the Church She brings about 3 600 packages of tea which will be sent East by the O R & N and Northern Pacific with all possible dispatch The Carrier Dove is a wooden vessel of 102 tons register built in 1873 She has made a very poor run as vessels frequently come across in thirty days and less The Mary A Troop is twenty days behind the Carrier Dove and may be daily expected with a similar cargo The Wallace B Flint reached Port Moody July 26 in a passage of thirty five days and some of her cargo is half way East at this time The Hyderabad and one or two others have reported at San Francisco with tea cargoes The Hyderabad brought the first of the new crop across and was twenty days ahead of last season's first arrival reaching San Francisco July 11 The Mary A Troop and Flora P Stafford get 1½ cents per pound freight The British steamer Glenavon reached New York July 19 with the first of the new tea via Suez being forty four days from Amoy and fifty two days from Yokohama There was a time when the first steamer to arrive received a bonus and the voyage partook somewhat of the nature of an ocean race but that has been done away with although there is still some rivalry among first steamers to make the quickest voyage The Pacific railroads are making great efforts to obtain a share of the tea traffic and with such success that the shipments of what are termed railroad teas have been steadily increasing each year

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE —Mrs Emma Roretta Smith with two children a boy 6 and a girl years of age left the home of the husband and father George W Smith near Van Schuyver's Landing on the Columbia river on Thursday morning the 8th ult and arrived in East Portland by the regular passenger train at 10 o'clock A M and it is supposed came over in the regular transfer boat The woman is about 26 or 28 years of age dark eyes, hands and face considerably tanned shows the gold filling in her teeth plainly when smiling she wore a broad brim light straw hat trimmed with light blue trimming and a black cashmere dress or a plaid calico the only dresses she took with her She probably had a black enameled muslin satchel She had but little money with her The husband is almost distracted at the loss of his wife and children Any information as to the whereabouts of the woman or children left with the chief of police of Portland will be duly appreciated and suitably rewarded by the husband Either of the children when questioned will give its name A man named William M Harding about 40 years of age light complexion and about five feet eleven inches in height lately boarded with the family and left some days before He may know of her whereabouts His home is supposed to be near Ames postoffice in Clackamas county The husband understands they were in the city a few days previous to her departure from home and fears she has been enticed away from his home

FATAL RUNAWAY ACCIDENT —Says the Baker City Reveille: A messenger arrived here bringing news that Fred Devereaux, Mr Hadley and a third man who were riding rapidly down the road in a heavy wagon when one of the wheels struck a rock throwing the three men out and pinning the boy beneath the seat. Devereaux fell under the wagon the wheels passing over him and inflicting injuries from which he died in about two hours Hadley was thrown violently against a wire fence and was dangerously lacerated in several places but the other man was not seriously injured When the men were thrown out the horses commenced running but were caught by a girl who was coming up the road horseback After quieting the horses she rescued the boy who was still fastened beneath the seat Our informant states that had it not been for the timely assistance of Dr J N Snow who happened to be in the vicinity Hadley would probably have bled to death from the injuries received on the wire fence Paul was well known to many of our readers being the Frenchman who had the wood contract at the Gold Ridge mine for some time past.

PECULIAR SORT OF HOTEL —The life of a commercial traveler in this section at present is not altogether one of pleasure With a license collector camping on their trail they are kept in a worry As a rule they do not favor the paying of the fee Some of them think the fee ought to be pro rated It appears that there is one fellow here from Chicago who has thirty two trunks and he was charged thirty two times as much as a fellow with one trunk would probably have to pay. It's a field of labor One drummer the other day had to ask as a favor a passage to the next town with a man who carried a sort of extra mail He said he would be as soon as he got his breakfast and the mail carrier said he kept a hotel So the drummer thought it good policy to patronize it. The breakfast was hardly up to average and there was such a lot of diseased and decrepid people around the house that the drummer felt sorry for the mail carrier who appeared to have a very helpless kind of a family When he found out that he had breakfasted at the county poor house his pity was changed to something else

OUR HORSES IN NEW YORK —The horses shipped to Ontario county New York by Messrs Hoxter & Newell met with a ready sale and Messrs W J Hoxter and Albert Toler of Washington county have returned to this state to get another train load ready for shipment. The shipment of these horses was a great undertaking for the owners but success has crowned them and Oregon has been well advertised The horses have given general satisfaction and the inhabitants of Ontario county where the horses were sold are favorably impressed with our state's production in the line of horses Thousands of people visited the pasture where the stock was kept it being the largest band of horse flesh ever brought to the state and people gathered as if to a circus The riding by the boys in charge of the horses excited the wildest enthusiasm and the throwing of the lasso would draw a crowd instantly The class of horses taken in graded Clydes Percherons Hambletonians and a few Indian ponies The Northwest carries the broom in having shipped the only full trains of horses ever shipped in the United States

EVEN THE BEES SHIRK —The little busy bee, whose industry and sagacity have been the theme of praise in all ages is after all very much like other people inclined to avoid unnecessary labor and to make honey as cheaply as possible Thousands of the little fellows were seen yesterday busy at work improving the shining hour by scraping out a glucose barrel It used to be that they gathered honey all the day from every opening flower But now if they can find a sugar barrel or a molasses or glucose cask they give the opening flowers the go by Instead of skillfully building their cells they have their comb manufactured from paraffine by machinery, and instead of laboring hard to store them well with the sweet food they make they shovel in glucose or cheap China sugar Well as was remarked before bees are much like other people, and there are but few of us now a day hanker after being still busy in works of labor or of skill and would as a general thing about as leave take chances on Satan finding something for idle hands to do

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE —The wife of Hans Johnson who lives a mile south of Snohomish says the Eye attempted to commit suicide by hanging recently She attempted to place the neck of a three year old daughter in the same noose but finding it impossible she took the child in her arms and jumped from the bed The rope was too long and she drew up her knees When the noose tightened she dropped the child The alarm was given by one of the children and the husband hastened to the rescue He found two of the children crying by the mother's side He cut the woman down and after hard work succeeded in restoring her to consciousness The woman had been suffering from insanity and has been taken to the Steilacoom asylum The next day a four year old son who had been terribly impressed by his mother's deed also attempted to hang him

ONE FIRST Baker City Bradtown it was evident after the second inning that the Bakers could not bat Devine as they were unable to get to his delivery and some of them struck in the matter of batting the home boys showed their weakness as they have not practiced sufficiently with a man like Devine in the box and Hill to take them in front of the bat when necessary Perhaps it will gratify the Baker City boys to know that the Shoshones were in exactly this situation when they faced Connolly You know it depends on the town you happen to be playing in whether you are a crack club or not

POSTOFFICE AT SUMMIT STATION —A postoffice was established yesterday at Summit station the first town south of Portland on the west side road It is to be known as Hillsdale postoffice Mrs A J Crounse postmistress This will be a great convenience to the people in the vicinity of Summit around which there is quite a settlement Now that the postoffice has received a name it will be just as well for the public to drop the old and use the new which is not easy or natural but Hillsdale is a pretty name and before many years no small number of Portlanders will have residences on the hill After this let Summit be Hillsdale Will not Superintendent Brandt make the change whenever he gets out a new time card

TAKEN TO THE ASYLUM —Pauline Morgan an insane woman was taken to the asylum at Salem yesterday by bailiff H C Woods She has been living for some time past at the corner of Third and Jefferson streets and took in washing for a living Recently the neighbors observed that she acted strange and at times became violent The cause of her insanity is unknown The woman is 38 years of age and is a native of Pennsylvania and is said to be married and has three children somewhere in the East She arrived here two years ago and little is known of her antecedents

NEXT TUESDAY'S EXCURSION TO YAQUINA BAY —This excursion under the auspices of the Taylor street church is Portland's first excursion by railroad to the seashore It is promising well Special arrangements have been made for the accommodation of those who go All will be provided for though as a matter of pleasure those who go to stay a week are recommended to take tents and camp by the seashore Full particulars may be learned from the circulars to be obtained from those where the placards are up in the stores

LECTURING ABOUT HIS OWN PEOPLE.—Henry Sicade a Puyallup Indian a graduate of the government training school at Forest Grove is now in the East sight seeing He was visiting at Seneca New York about the middle of this month and was invited to deliver a lecture on the Indians of the Northwest Over 500 people turned out to the lecture and were astonished to hear a full blooded Indian speaking the queen's English as well as the average college graduate of white blood Sicade is a curiosity wherever he appears in the East

TWO WATCHES STOLEN —Sunday, a Chinese cook employed by Mrs L Moeller who lives at the corner of Ninth and Taylor streets decamped taking with him two watches one belonging to Mrs Moeller and the other to her son At 4 o'clock in the afternoon Mrs Moeller heard the Chinaman leave the kitchen and go up stairs Shortly afterwards she concluded to go out for a walk and sent the boy to her sleeping apartment to get her timepiece when it was found to be missing. The boy then searched for his watch and ascertained that it was gone Both then looked for the Chinaman but without success The police have been notified of the transaction The value of the watches is $150

OFFICERS ELECTED — The Wahkeena boat house club met last night and elected officers as follows President H Hildebrand vice-president Edward Casey secretary T N Dunbar treasurer A Paffenbarger superintendent C B Cardinell directors E Casey A Paffenbarger, T N Dunbar H Hildebrand I Goldsmith and Charles B Cardinell The peculiarity of this club is that every owner of stock has the full use of pleasure boats The club is incorporated with a capital stock of $10 000 divided into 100 shares of $100 each No one can hold more than one share. The club starts out under very favorable auspices and has in view a series of small boat excursions and socials

AUTHORIZED TO COMPROMISE.—In the United States circuit court Judge Deady made an order allowing R Koehler receiver of the Oregon & California Railroad company to compromise with Wm Withrow by paying him $8000 It will be remembered that an infant child of Mr Withrow's was knocked out of its mother's arms at a station on the west side road and its legs were cut off by the car wheels A suit to recover damages was instituted by Mr Withrow in the circuit court of Yamhill county and the jury awarded him $15 000 He has it appears agreed to settle the matter for $8600 and the order of the court is to authorize this settlement

PARKERIER DISCHARGED —Loratti the bar keeper of the Hub saloon mentioned as arrested by officers Barry and Simmons Saturday on a charge of stealing $50 from an East Portland man was subsequently discharged from custody for the reason that the complainant wouldn't swear out a complaint against him Eugenia Gorie the woman arrested in conjunction with Loratti was only charged with drunkenness She put up bail of $5 and forfeited it by not appearing for trial in the police court yesterday Loratti's story is that the man gave him only $20 part of which was to be taken out for drinks and that he gave him his change

THE POLICE CHANGES —Continued night work for years so told on the health of special policeman Watson that he was obliged to resign He has been on the force for more than eleven years was always efficient and very popular In a few days he will leave for Chehalis W T and remain there till restored to health Policeman Nash who succeeds Watson is an excellent officer It will please the many friends of W H Andrus to see him a captain of police

SULPHUR SHIPMENT —Yesterday was sulphur day here Three car loads of the sweet scented stuff arrived yesterday overland from some point below Ogden and near the brimstone regions Now bring along your treacle and then let sinners come to the front and dose the lads at Dolpheby's hall Just what is to be done with so much sulphur is not known Some goes up to the sheep ranches of Eastern Oregon and some is used by gardeners

PREPARING TO RECEIVE COMRADES —A committee from George Wright post G A R has been formed to make arrangements for a reception and camp fire to Gens Sherman and Logan and all other comrades who may pass through this city on their return to the East Telegrams have been sent to the expected visitors and on receipt of their replies definite steps will be taken

SKIPPED —Freiman the only caterer of Portland left town suddenly this morning overland to San Francisco to secure one of the best cooks and first class bakers that money will possibly get Freiman has a fine business and a large run of custom and intends to keep them by supplying them with all the delicacies in market He will return in about a week

LARGE CROWD AT THE COAST —It is stated that there are more Portlanders at the coast at present than have ever been there at one time before The perfect arrangements of the Olympian and the cheap round trip rates have accomplished it no doubt

CRATER LAKE July 2

One point has been overlooked in my former letters, which is to give the names of our party They are as follows C E Dutton captain of ordnance U S A in charge of division Capt George W Davis and Sergeant Frederick Schroell Co I corporal Heard Co F privates Homer Hollick Co B Ed C De Graff and Cornelius Shea, Co C Theo Knopp Co D John Sexton Co L John Mulroy Co H and Reuben B Long Co I all of the Fourteenth infantry Charles W Howell chief packer Wm Caldwell assistant packer Frank Cummings and Wm Mayfield drivers besides Joe Weeks and Pat Kane two Indian drivers who have now left the party Frank L Howe cook C F Dutton Jr and W G Steel besides the topographical engineers now here who are as follows Mark B Kerr Eugene Ricksecker R C Kerr C C Bradley and John S Siebert besides Thomas Watson John Irvin J D Stewart and John F McBride packer and Paul Webber and Charles McLoran cooks

The Cleetwood was launched on the 1 th and on the 18th nine members of our party made the circuit of the lake on a sort of casual observation or tour of inspection The scenery was grand to a degree far beyond their most sanguine expectations. A strong west wind soon brought us to Llao rock and as we gazed in silent wonder at its rugged sides reaching nearly half a mile above us for the first time did I realize the immensity of such a spectacle Never before did I fully understand the meaning of figures which run up into the thousands of feet vertical measurement. Beyond Llao rock we found a beautiful little bay and beyond this a larger one probably one mile long by a quarter of a mile deep Here we stopped for lunch and when landing were surprised to find a long line of dead insects of a large variety washed up by the waves and in such numbers that the air was laden with an unpleasant odor apparently about a first cousin to that of a slaughter house We also found here a narrow beach of small gravel running almost the entire length of the bay while further out in the lake the bottom is composed of sand As this point has not only never been named but probably was never before visited by human beings we decided to christen it Cleetwood bay Passing on our journey it was soon seen that the cliffs on the north side are not so high as those to the south In several places it appeared that good trails could easily be made to the water's edge over which a person might ride horseback and in one place without any grading whatever a good pack train could descend with comparative ease About 4 o'clock a thunder shower came suddenly upon us just as two beautiful grottos came in view Into one of these the boat was run where we were entirely beyond the reach of rain It proved to be about thirty feet deep and ten feet wide with an arched roof of probably eight feet above the water while the rocky bottom could be distinctly seen ten feet below the surface So perfect was its form that it almost seemed the hand of man had hewn it from the solid rock Beyond it to very an immense cliff very high with broken rugged sides picturesque and sublime which I insist on naming Dutton cliff in honor of Capt Dutton who has done and is doing so much to make Crater lake justly famous This point may be known from the fact that it lies directly opposite Llao rock and between the two lowest places in the lake's walls Immediately north of Dutton cliff the elements have worn the sides of the mountain leaving a harder substance alternately colored red and yellow resembling the mansard roof of a cottage while in one place tall red chimneys stand aloft making all in all such a scene that Cottage rock could scarcely be improved on for a name Lying between the two points above referred to a break in the walls was found that is almost perpendicular but certainly does not exceed 400 feet in hight This is by far the lowest point in the walls Just at the foot of Dutton cliff an island was discovered of probably 60 feet wide by 400 long and over 100 to the top of the rock that stand upon it like great chimneys or towers giving to it an appearance like the castles of old We did not land and claim it in the name of Ferdinand and Isabella or even in the great name of Uncle Sam but an appropriate name would be Castle island Proceeding on our way we reached camp at about o'clock hungry but in high spirits after our first cruise

Crater lake has again sort risen to the Soundings as accurate tests will prove beyond all question that but few bodies of water in the world equal it in depth except the ocean and none whatever of an equal size while in the western hemisphere it will stand absolutely unrivaled Heretofore Tahoe has been considered the deepest lake in America being 1540 feet. Only preliminary soundings have been made as yet and the figures obtained are subject to slight change The deepest water found so far is 1995 feet being more than Tahoe Active work will commence to-morrow when two men will be stationed on the cliffs with instruments prepared to take bearings on each sounding locating it exactly on the map while they will be taken on a number of lines running from shore to shore like the spokes of a wagon wheel No soundings will be taken in stormy weather so that the figures obtained will be as nearly exact as can be had

Several days since I received a letter from Thos Gravenor of Ashland superintendent of the Linkville stage line, stating that he was authorized by the president of the line to offer reduced rates for persons intending to visit this place during the present season. To such persons the round trip from Ashland to Linkville will be $10. From Linkville to Fort Klamath forty miles I am unable at present to say but at the fort a team and driver with accommodations for four passengers will be provided for $10 and will remain at the lake one day and a half or those desiring to remain a longer time can make all necessary arrangements at a reasonable rate On the Oregon & California railroad I believe half rates will be given or S from Portland to Ashland and return Persons contemplating such a trip should be well provided with blankets provisions and in fact a general camping outfit as there are absolutely no accommodations here except those furnished by nature There is plenty of good grass for horses and as good water as the earth affords Besides this a better way is now provided to reach the lake than heretofore as a very good trail has been constructed down Cleetwood canyon by Messrs Howell, Caldwell and Mayfield of our party

WILLAMETTE RIVER SHAD

THE OREGONIAN'S correspondent at Albany writes

The supply of half a million shad placed in the Willamette river at this place in May last by J. F Ellis of the United States fish commission are growing finely Any afternoon a person may stand on Monteith's wharf and see thousands and thousands of the little fellows sporting in the water When turned loose they were about as long as a grain of wheat and as large around as a pin now they are nearly two inches in length The commissioner informed your correspondent that when they reach the age of about six months they will all move away toward the ocean and with the fish ladder at Oregon City as in its present condition will never return to the upper waters of this river They are a migratory fish and there is no assurance that after reaching the ocean they will ever again enter the mouth of the Columbia and hence will be lost to our fishing industries and the expense of bringing them here will be a total loss What we most want here is a car of black bass and catfish While here Mr Ellis examined the Calapooia and stated that its even temperature slow sluggish current and murky water made it in every way suitable for the catfish and no fish would do better or thrive more rapidly in the Willamette than the former Both of these fish would remain here after reaching maturity and as they are both game, to handle and splendid for the table they would prove of benefit and fully repay the heavy expense of transportation

Shad is probably not a migratory that the salmon While some of them may wander from the river where they were born or planted the greater number will come back at the proper time As to the desirability of having black bass and catfish in our streams there is a diversity of opinion The bass is a game fish and good eating but wherever it thrives the trout disappears As for the catfish it is good enough where there are no other fish and people who have been raised on it may think good fish but others deem it a very poor one the flesh being watery and insipid poorer if possible than the carp which is first cousin of the sucker. It's also destructive of the spawn of all other fish and an ugly looking chuckleheaded brute It was introduced into some of the streams of Great Britain and the Britishers have never done kicking themselves on that account As long as our streams are filled with trout and salmon we need not hanker for even the gamey black bass much less the ugly catfish which is about the only fish in the United States too worthless to wear scales.

FRANZ LISZT

A dispatch dated Bayreuth July 31 states that Abbe Liszt died there the previous night By the death of this eminent pianist and composer a bright light of the musical firmament has gone out. Franz Liszt was born October 22 1811 at Raiding in Hungary having reached the ripe age of 75 years When years old he made his first appearance in public in Oedenburg Hungary on which occasion he made such a favorable impression as to enlist the enthusiasm of several Hungarian noblemen who guaranteed him sufficient means to continue his studies under the celebrated teacher Czerny at Vienna At his first public appearance in this art center January 1 1823 his genius was acknowledged by all present, from Beethoven down to the obscurest dilettante At a concert somewhat later Beethoven was so overcome with the remarkable playing of the musical prodigy that at the close of the concert he embraced and kissed him In 1823 he went to Paris, to gain admittance to the conservatory there under the direction of Cherubini He was met with the reply A foreigner cannot enter the conservatory He continued studying under other teachers occasionally appearing in public He was at this time scarcely 15 years of age All were attracted to him and completely infatuated with him On New Year's day 1824 he was summoned by the Duke of Orleans afterward Louis Philippe to play at the Palais Royal All Paris went into ecstasies over the young genius Paganini the violinist was about this time astonishing the Parisians by his wonderful playing Liszt himself was amazed at his wonderful performance and he determined to become the Paganini of the piano The interval from this time to 1847 Liszt spent in traveling from one country to another being everywhere received with an enthusiasm unequaled in the annals of art.

In 1847 he accepted a permanent engagement as conductor of the court theater at Weimar and it was here that Wagner's early operas first took root, among them being the Flying Dutchman, Lohengrin and Tannhauser Wagner found in Liszt an ardent enthusiast in the so-called music of the future In he resigned his official position at Weimar and since that year has divided his time between Rome, Pesth and Weimar always surrounded by a circle of pupils and admirers During his sojourn in Rome he devoted himself to sacred music in connection with the church should be purified renovated and improved It was necessary for him to become a church minister of the in order to accomplish what he wished and to separate himself from the world by taking the first orders Thus he became an Abbe But he did not remain very long He was thwarted by the lack of cooperation among the church officials he said He went back to Germany feeling that only there that the church of music could be regenerated He devoted himself to the encouragement of schools of and more original style of church music His piano forte compositions best known in this country are his Hungarian Rhapsodies and transcriptions of themes from some of Wagner's operas The former are very characteristic and weird in their effect Of his orchestral works the twelve symphonic poems are his greatest He has also composed numerous masses and songs At the age of 13 he wrote an operetta in one act called Don Sancho which was produced at the Academie Royale Paris October 1825 and well received Of his literary works the life of Chopin is the most extended

In that charmingly written book in the form of letters which the author Miss Amy Fay of Chicago sent from Germany and entitled Music Study in Germany occurs the following I am ready to hang myself half the time when I've been to Liszt Oh! He is the most phenomenal being in every respect All that you've heard of him would never give you an idea of him In short he represents the whole scale of human emotions His pupils adore him as in fact every one else does but it is impossible to do otherwise with a person whose genius flashes out Thus all the time and whose character is so winning S H

SAUNDERS' UNLUCKY NUMBER.

It is not to be wondered that the people of Albany discussed Saunders' escape People all over the state did the same, but some Albanyites have figured out that 4 was the murderer's unlucky number Here is the calculation as sent by a correspondent

It is said that Saunders is 44 years of age he has 4 teeth filled with gold and 4 unhurt fingers on his hand Reported that he has shot 4 men and he killed Charley Campbell on Nov the 4th day of the week which captured his pistol contained 4 loaded cartridges He was in jail 4 months was indicted March 14 on the 4th day of the week, and trial set for special term 4 months later. He was tried before three times 4 of his fellow men was defended by twice 4 and prosecuted by 4 lawyers 40 witnesses were subpoenaed at a cost of about $440 and the trial lasted 4 days He was to have been sentenced the 4th day of the week but escaped July 4 at 4 o'clock was joined by 4 men making 4 in party crossed the river before day and hid in the brush 4 days and 4 nights He was at liberty five times 4 days was captured by 4 men 144 miles from Albany returned via Roseburg 244 miles in just four days travel When arrested he carried a rifle for which he paid ten times four dollars In the magazine were four cartridges.

Four persons at Walla Walla positively identified the man caught as Saunders and on the 14th Humphrey stated it was not him he being four days in making the trip Four days after arrest Chestnut was discharged and four days after four men left Albany for Southern Oregon Each of the principal captors received about $44 and their total expenses were $4 THE OREGONIAN published accounts of four different men who were seen that resembled Saunders, and a pictorial journal wanted $4 for printing his picture and description

Circuit court convenes on the fourth Monday in October next and he will be sentenced to hang in forty days

TEMPEST IN A TEAPOT

PASCO August 1

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Had a thunderbolt or Barnum's circus landed in Pasco Saturday morning it would not have caused more of a stir than was caused when the news reached here that A P Gray who keeps the saloon or grog shop had received his appointment as postmaster at this place It was supposed that matters were getting tropical for the present incumbent but his deputy Mr J T Durand was known and trusted as an accommodating official and a sound democrat and it was thought if any change was made Mr Durant would get the office but Voorhees had drank some of the Gray Bros whisky when electioneering in Ainsworth It should be borne in mind that the Gray Bros here mentioned are W B Gray sheriff and A P Gray saloon keeper and no relation to Capt W P Gray county commissioner of Franklin county and master of the N P R R transfer steamer Frederick Billings and his brother A W Gray pilot of the steamer Billings and justice of the peace for Kennewick precinct Yakima county It is a matter of regret to the steamboat men that their initials are so near alike but the resemblance is only in initials as the steamboat men are strong republicans and the whisky men strong democrats

This is rather a Gray letter but the name of Gray is quite prominent in conversation in Pasco just now and I have just heard that Capt. W P Gray has been elected by the republican county convention as delegate to the territorial convention at Tacoma September 8 and W B Gray will be elected delegate to the democratic territorial convention at Tacoma August 18 I fall into verse thus

In tead of quixote the gallant and free
In his wonderful boat with the mill
We find here in Pasco all parties agree
That the fight is between Cap and Bill

Dyspepsia comes from Torpid Liver and Costiveness You cannot digest your food well unless your liver and bowels act properly Brandreth's Pills taken one or two at night for a week or so will regulate the bowels stimulate the liver and insure a quick and healthful digestion These Pills are purely vegetable contain no mineral and are absolutely harmless for old and young

Mr Godey's View

Springfield Mass Union

Godey who died leaving a fortune of two or three millions made chiefly out of his Lady's Book was often asked by educated people why he did not raise the standard of his magazine and give it a higher literary tone His reply was I am not making a magazine for the few but the masses for the Million They are the vast majority

Milestones on the Road to Health

The recovery of digestion and the resumption of activity by the liver bowels and kidneys are milestones which mark our progress on the road to health They speedily become perceptible when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is used by the invalid Nothing so surely and expeditiously consumes the distance to the desired goal As no bodily function can suffer interruption without impairing the general health of the system so the system can never acquire perfect vigor health's synonym until that function be actively resumed Take for instance digestion a suspension of which is invariably remedied by the Bitters If the organs upon which it devolves grow weak biliousness constipation headache poverty of the blood and a hundred other symptoms supervene which indicate unmistakably the baneful general influence of dyspepsia The disappearance of all these symptoms through the use of the Bitters show with what thoroughness it removes their cause

THE DEFENDANTS' SIDE

Last week Jochum Kowall brought suit against Gundel Bros to recover $15 for a horse which plaintiff alleged he loaned to defendants September 10 1885 and which was never returned Yesterday Gundel Bros. filed their answer to the complaint They set up that the horse was never worth over $40 that it was unruly vicious and balky and that October 5 1885 while attached to their wagon with $30 worth of soda-water on board it ran away and plunged into the Willamette river and was drowned. They therefore claim to be equally damaged with plaintiff and ask judgment for costs

How to Protect Eastern Farmers.

Boston Herald

If New England farmers who are taxed 45 per cent on imported necessities are to get compensating advantages from the home market which manufacturers have provided for them—and which were quite as great under a 20 per cent tariff as they are under one of 45 per cent—they should have protection against western grain and meat and southern fruits and vegetables If not, why not

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.
The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient Use no other

THE EAST SIDE.

MORE WATER.

The following communication from the East Portland water company was then read and on motion of McAyeal referred to the committee on fire and water:

EAST PORTLAND, July 31, 1886.

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of East Portland—Gentlemen: Inasmuch as there seems to be some misunderstanding on the part of the mayor and council, through misrepresentations or otherwise, regarding the proposition of the East Portland water company to furnish water for any number of cisterns the council may see proper to construct, I beg leave to make the following explanation and statement:

If the council will examine the records they will find that on the 1st day of September, 1881, the city was enjoying the use of twenty fire hydrants, the number to which it was entitled under the contract with this company. The officers of the company were waited upon by a part of the committee on fire and water, and informed by them that more hydrants were needed, but that the council felt unwilling to entail further expense upon the city for that purpose, and asked concessions on the part of the company. The request was granted in a communication to the council, permitting the council to order as many hydrants as they thought proper on any of the company's mains without extra charge. The communication was received and acted upon, and several hydrants were ordered, the use of which the city has since enjoyed without any other guarantee on the part of the company than the acceptance of the communication referred to, having the signature of the company's authorized agent. Again on the 7th day of September, 1885, the committee on fire and water, consisting of Messrs. West, McAyeal and Laing, called at the office of the company and requested the further concession of supplying water for cisterns. This request the company also granted, without charge in a communication to the council of the same date. For some unexplained reason the proposition has not been acted upon by the council, and that there may be no mistake in the premises the same is hereby renewed in good faith under seal of the company and by its authorized agent.

Attest.

H. P. McGUIRE, President.
H. D. McGUIRE, Secretary.

From Councilman Bancroft, withdrawing his resignation. On motion of Merrick, accepted.

The following claims were read and referred to the committee on current expenses and accounts:

John Wolf	2 00	T. M. Hurlburt	5 00

NEW ORDINANCES.

An ordinance to prevent the growing of thistles, providing for publication of notices to all owners of property requiring them to cut down, dig up and destroy all thistles on their property or on the streets abutting the same, under penalty of $5 or $20 fine or imprisonment from two to ten days; read first and second times and referred to committee on streets and public property.

ENGROSSED ORDINANCES.

Changing grades of certain streets; read third time and passed.

Adopting report of city surveyor on establishment of grades on certain streets; read third time and passed.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mr. Murphy wanted to know what committee on fire and water had done with chief engineer's report. He noticed the steam engine used a lot of fuel and didn't seem to be good for anything when needed.

Mr. Merrick explained that the bills for fuel came in only about every four months, hence the size of the bills.

Ex-Recorder Gillespie stated that he had repeatedly asked for bills, but they were slow coming in. The last one presented was for $10 50.

On motion of McAyeal further time was granted the committee in which to consider the report.

Mr. Murphy thought, in view of the fact that the city was being generously dealt with in the matter of water propositions, the council would better ask for bids for gas also. To this end he moved that the city discontinue the use of gas for the present, and that the matter be referred to the committee on fire and water for consideration. The motion was amended so as to [illegible] report from the committee at the next meeting of the council, and as amended was carried.

The city attorney reported that warrant had been drawn in settlement of the Wigg case and that the judgment against the city would be canceled.

The Division street matter then came up and was pretty thoroughly discussed. J. W. Kern being present, addressed the council at some length, explaining thoroughly the desires of the property owners in the matter. Mr. Murphy introduced a resolution authorizing the recorder to give due notice of the improvement of said Division street from the east line of Tenth street eastward to the city limits, by grading same to established grade and graveling a roadway sixteen feet wide, sixteen inches in depth in center and ten inches on outside. Adopted.

Mr. Laing moved that the recorder be instructed to advertise for bids for three fire hydrants for the First ward. Moved to amend by including three for the Fourth ward. The amendment was lost, McAyeal and Murphy voting aye. The original motion was also lost, Laing and McAyeal voting aye. Adjourned.

ALBANY NOTES.

ALBANY, Aug. 2.

Mr. S. E. Young will leave to-day for a six weeks' trip East.

A Pierce was in the city Saturday, exhibiting some spring grain, which is slightly affected by rust.

Last Saturday while Carl Parkes was using a chisel it accidentally slipped, severely cutting his hand.

Mr. Henry McDowell assumed control to-day of the city meat market formerly run by Mr. J. K. Davis.

Mr. John Crawford is having the foundation built for a new brick building to be erected in the rear of L. E. Blain's clothing store.

The Three Sisters brought down two loads of Yaquina freight last Saturday, the greater part of which was billed for Salem and Eugene.

A little son of Alex. Cunningham had the misfortune to break his arm one day last week while bucking straw from a threshing machine.

Hon J. C. Fullerton, of Roseburg, passed through the city last Friday en route to Portland to meet his wife, who has been visiting East for some time.

Mr Thomas H. Rhodes and Miss Mary R. Payne were united in marriage last Friday at the residence of the bride's parents, near this city, Rev. H. P. Webb, officiating.

Judge Strahan, who is rusticating at Fish lake, met with quite an accident last week, severely spraining his ankle, and since then has been compelled to remain in camp.

Since commencing work the right of way men have been cutting a track sixty feet wide. Last Saturday they received instructions to widen the track to one hundred feet.

Mr. George C. Wilson has been granted a first-grade certificate, and W. H. Hauret of Corvallis a state diploma, by the superintendent of public instruction, pursuant to an order from the state board of education.

The Misses Kittie and Hattie Smith and Miss Cleaver of Eugene City, who have been visiting in the city at the home of Miss Minnie Monteith, left last Saturday. Miss Hattie Smith returned to her home, Miss Kittie Smith went to Boise City, and Miss Cleaver went to La Grande to visit her brother.

Since the right of way men on the O. P. railroad have been at work near this city a gentleman from Alsea has been running the commissary department. Last Saturday he raised their board, and this morning he did not have a boarder. They all left and came over to board in the city, having made arrangements with Mr. Pierce for crossing on the ferry.

One day last week Mr. W. R. McKinnon, living on Canyon creek, between Upper and Lower Sodas, met with a very painful accident. He was returning home from Fish-lake, and met a wagon; turning to the side of the road, his horses became frightened, ran the wagon wheel against a rock, throwing Mr. McKinnon out. He fell from the high seat and struck heavily upon the ground, receiving internal injuries that he may not recover from for many days.

All day long the thud of the pile driver can be heard driving the piles for the approach to the bridge. The track, where it approaches the bridge from the Benton county side will be about twenty feet from the ground, making the bridge sufficiently high to let boats pass under, without use of the draw, at low water stage. Work has not yet commenced on the bridge proper, as the U. S. commissioners have not yet made an examination of the proposed site. The right of way men are within one mile of the city, and the graders are crowding along as fast as possible.

Last Friday evening three boys, Harry Davis, Wm. Campbell and Charles Medin, were out riding in a buggy belonging to Rev. S. E. Davis, father of one of the boys. On returning home they started across the bridge near the Jewish cemetery. While on the bridge one of the reins became fastened, causing the horse to go so near the edge that the buggy tipped over. Down they all went, except one boy, who jumped out, striking the ground a distance of nearly twenty feet below, but, strange to say, the buggy was but slightly broken, and neither horse nor occupants were in any way injured. It was certainly a remarkable escape.

OLYMPIA NOTES.

OLYMPIA, July 31.

Hon. W. P. Keady and wife arrived here to-day, after making a tour of the Sound.

Messrs. McMicken and Haines, of Seattle, with their canoes, arrived here to-day and had them transported to Black lake, from whence they intend to continue their trip to Ilwaco.

An order for writ of habeas corpus was issued by Judge Hoyt to-day in the matter of Alex. Brown, Jr., now in confinement at Tacoma on a charge of embezzlement and robbery of funds from a military company in the Eastern states. The writ will be heard here on August 3, at 10 A. M.

The notorious sneak thief and burglar, Frank Mossman, who escaped some time ago from the penitentiary at Salem, Or., where he was serving out a sentence for robbery, was arrested a few days ago in Port Townsend and kept in confinement there until Deputy Sheriff Irving, of this place, arrived there, took him in charge, and brought him here to-day. It appears that in accordance with his usual tricks, he was sawing his way out of Port Townsend jail when Mr. Irving arrived there, and another hour would have seen him at liberty again. Once in the officer's hands, however, he was so heavily ironed that he found it impossible to get away. Superintendent George Collins arrived on the train this evening from Salem, and will take him back to his old quarters in the morning to serve out the remainder of his sentence. As soon as he is through at Salem he will be brought back to this place to stand his trial for burglary, on which charge he was indicted and made his escape previous to the Oregon affair.

A STRIKING NUMBER.

The North American Review for August will contain an article on "Bismarck, Man and Minister," by ex-Minister John A. Kasson; a theological essay in reply to the question, "Why am I a Catholic?" by Rev. S. M. Brandi, president of the Jesuit college at Woodstock; a posthumous article on "Life Insurance," by Elizur Wright—the last essay he wrote; "Radicalism in France," a crisp and vigorous article, by Henri Rochefort; "Labor in Pennsylvania," by Henry George; "My Negotiations with Gen. Sherman," by Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, the Confederate general, in which he tells the story of the end of the Confederacy; and shorter articles by Dr. Dexter, Gen Wm. Farrar Smith, Gideon J. Tucker, Wm. Holmes, Francis L. Ferguson, and ex-Minister Scruggs. Henry George's article is devoted to a description of life in the coal regions, and is a startling revelation of the condition of labor there. Mr. George visited the anthracite region as special commissioner of the North American Review.

A Remedy for Lung Diseases.

Dr. Robert Newton, late, President of the Eclectic College of the city of New York, and formerly of Cincinnati, Ohio, used DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM very extensively in his practice, as many of his patients now living, and restored to health by the use of this invaluable medicine, can amply testify. He always said that so good a remedy ought to be prescribed freely by every physician as a sovereign remedy in all cases of lung diseases. It cures Consumption, and has no equal for all pectoral complaints.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Governments were quiet and unchanged. There was almost no news of character to affect values received to-day, but rumors were plentiful, and their effect was almost invariably to enhance values. A story was early put in circulation that the Union Pacific had purchased a controlling interest in the Oregon Railway & Navigation company. Free covering of shorts followed, and the stock advanced over 1 per cent. within an hour. The story was afterward denied, but little of the advance was lost. Everything in the active list except Western Union is higher to-night, and St. Paul, Michigan Central and Canada Southern are each up 1¼ per cent., and other stocks fractional amounts.

The Mail and Express says: The mining stocks market to-day was extremely dull. Sales: Sutro Tunnel 12, Castle Creek 8, Rappahannock 11, Bodie $2 65, Navajo $2 75, Bulwer 9, Hale & Norcross $2 28, California & Virginia $1 30.

INDIGESTION.

"I suffered for more than a year with indigestion, and during the last six months I was very bilious, occasionally having a Dumb Chill, followed by Fevers, which prostrated me for weeks. I took Simmons Liver Regulator, and for several months I have been as stout and hearty as any man could desire to be. I am thoroughly satisfied it is all it is recommended for Indigestion and bilious complaints, for mine was certainly a stubborn case. I have heard many of my friends speak of it, and all agree that it possesses all the virtues you claim for it. —A. H. HIGHTOWER, Conductor on M. & W R. R.

"My husband being blind, requires him to lead a very sedentary life, and, consequently, he suffers greatly from Indigestion. Having heard of Simmons Liver Regulator, he commenced using it regularly. The Indigestion has left him, and he is now enjoying better health than he has known for years."—MRS. STEPHEN MENARD, Macon, Ga.

MORE WATER

The following communication from the East Portland water company was then read and on motion of McAyeal referred to the committee on fire and water

EAST PORTLAND July 31 1886

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of East Portland—Gentlemen Inasmuch as there seems to be some misunderstanding on the part of the mayor and council through misrepresentations or otherwise, regarding the proposition of the East Portland water company to furnish water for any number of cisterns the council may see proper to construct I beg leave to make the following explanation and statement

If the council will examine the records they will find that on the 1st day of September 1884 the city was enjoying the use of twenty fire hydrants the number to which it was entitled under the contract with this company. The officers of the company were waited upon by a part of the committee on fire and water and informed by them that more hydrants were needed but that the council felt unwilling to entail further expense upon the city for that purpose and asked concessions on the part of the company The request was granted in a communication to the council permitting the council to order as many hydrants as they thought proper on any of the company's mains without extra charge The communication was received and acted upon and several hydrants were ordered the use of which the city has since enjoyed without any other guarantee on the part of the company than the acceptance of the communication referred to having the signature of the company's authorized agent. Again on the [illegible] day of September 1885 the committee on fire and water consisting of Messrs West McAyeal and Laing, called at the office of the company and requested the further concession of supplying water for cisterns This request the company also granted without charge in a communication to the council of the same date For some unexplained reason the proposition has not been acted upon by the council and that there may be no mistake [illegible] the premises the same is hereby renewed in good faith under seal of the company and by its authorized agent

H P McGUIRE President
H D McGUIRE Secretary

From Councilman Branscroft withdrawing his resignation On motion of Merrick, accepted.

MISCELLANEOUS

Mr Murphy wanted to know what committee on fire and water had done with chief engineer's report He noticed the steam engine used a lot of fuel and didn't seem to be good for anything when needed

Mr Merrick explained that the bills for fuel came in only about every four months hence the size of the bills.

Ex Recorder Gillespie stated that he had repeatedly asked for bills but they were slow coming in The last one presented was for $10 50

On motion of McAyeal further time was granted the committee in which to consider the report

Mr Murphy thought in view of the fact that the city was being generously dealt with in the matter of water propositions the council would better ask for bids for gas also To this end he moved that the city discontinue the use of gas for the present, and that the matter be referred to the committee on fire and water for consideration The motion was amended so as to [illegible] report from the committee at the next meeting of the council, and as amended was carried

The city attorney reported that warrant had been drawn in settlement of the Wigg case and that the judgment against the city would be canceled

The Division street matter then came up and was pretty thoroughly discussed J W Kern being present addressed the council at some length explaining thoroughly the desires of the property owners in the matter Mr Murphy introduced a resolution authorizing the recorder to give due notice of the improvement of said Division street from the east line of Tenth street eastward to the city limits by grading same to established grade and gravelling a roadway sixteen feet wide sixteen inches in depth in center and ten inches on outside Adopted

Mr Laing moved that the recorder be instructed to advertise for bids for three fire hydrants for the First ward Moved to amend by including three for the Fourth ward The amendment was lost McAyeal and Murphy voting aye The original motion was also lost Laing and McAyeal voting aye Adjourned

NEW YORK Aug [illegible]—Governments were quiet and unchanged There was almost no news of a character to affect values received to-day but rumors were plentiful and their effect was almost invariably to enhance values A story was early put in circulation that the Union Pacific had purchased a controlling interest in the Oregon Railway & Navigation company Free covering of shorts followed and the stock advanced over 1 per cent within an hour The story was afterward denied but little of the advance was lost. Every thing in the active list except Western Union is higher to-night and St Paul Michigan Central and Canada Southern are each up 1½ per cent and other stocks fractional amounts

"I suffered for more than a year with indigestion, and during the last six months I was very bilious, occasionally having a Dumb Chill followed by Fevers, which prostrated me for weeks. I took Simmons Liver Regulator, and for several months I have been as stout and hearty as any man could desire to be I am thoroughly satisfied it is all it is recommended for Indigestion and bilious complaints, for mine was certainly a stubborn case I have heard many of my friends speak of it, and all agree that it possesses all the virtues you claim for it —A.
